Walk-In Bathtubs with New Outward Opening Door Offer Improved Safety and Convenience

Tubs Feature Easy-Open Door and Full Access to Seat for Safer User Wheelchair Transfer; Ideal for Hospitals and Nursing Homes

PISCATAWAY, N.J. (September 17, 2013) — Providing a safe, dignified, and comfortable way those with limited mobility to enjoy a bath, American Standard now offers a walk-in bathtub with an outward opening door.

This watertight walk-in tub door swings outward to allow more room when entering and exiting the tub. It allows for immediate access to the bather in the event of a medical emergency. Plus, this deep and spacious bathtub offers full access to the tub seat for trouble-free transfer from a wheelchair.

The large door opening allows complete access to the chair height seat. Additional standard safety features on these American Standard walk-in baths include a textured tub floor to prevent slips and falls as well as a sturdy, conveniently-located grab bar.
